Kevin;

It's been almost a month since I requested the audited financial statements from the animal shelter operators. As you know, the shelter operators are required by contract to submit these documents each year. You are the county official ultimately responsible for ensuring that these documents are submitted as required.

My request is repeated below for your convenience.

1. Audited financial statements from SHARK for each year they operated the Marathon animal shelter. (2011-2015)
2. Audited financial statements from SUFA for the last three years they operated the Marathon/Big Pine shelter. (2009-2011)
3. Audited financial statements from FKSPCA for 2014-2016.

A general observation: You, Kevin, seem to have great difficulty locating and providing documents in a timely manner - documents that should be readily available. It is disturbing that complying with the public records law isn't a priority for you. As you might recall, Bob Shillinger was terribly upset when Amy Heavilin innocently deleted a few emails during a round of overzealous housekeeping. One might even characterize Bob's extreme reaction as a "hissy fit". My understanding is that the state attorney is still investigating the matter. I'm curious as to why Bob doesn't hold all county officials to the same strict standard of compliance. He should.

I hope you will start taking your legal obligations more seriously and am looking forward to your prompt response. The good news is that this is a very straightforward request for specific documents. If you've been doing your job properly, responding should be no trouble at all.

Best,

Margaret Blank
